ALUMNI STUDENTS

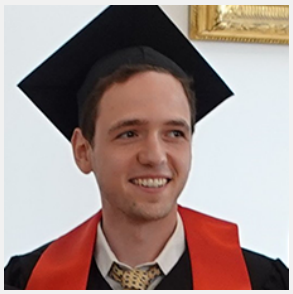

Noëmi Simon -LL.M. International Business Law 2025 – Paris

“I came to Paris from Germany to pursue the LL.M. International Business Law at Paris-Panthéon-Assas University after completing my first state exam. What convinced me to join this programme was its unique blend of theoretical and practical courses across a wide range of business law topics — something not typically covered in German law studies. I was especially surprised by how much I enjoyed learning about tax law and capital markets, areas I initially found intimidating. The mix of classroom learning and real-world case studies at law firms gave me practical insights that I’ll carry into my future career.

Living and studying in Paris was an unforgettable experience, and I would absolutely recommend this programme to anyone curious about international business law.”

Jonathan Leibu - LL.M. International Business Law 2024 – Paris

“We were taught by professional in their fields and we had theoretical courses at the same time. This is quite unique and forces you to make personal connections with those working in the field which was a great help to make business contacts.

I would highly recommend Assas LLM in International Business Law program because Paris-Panthéon-Assas University has a great reputation in France and the quality of teaching is very high. You meet many different kinds of professors with many different teaching approaches. Finally, it was very interesting to meet people from different countries who could offer input about their legal system. Studying at Paris-Panthéon-Assas University was a very enriching experience!”

Laura Beatriz Zanella - LL.M. International Business Law 2024 – Paris

"Although my path had led me elsewhere, between the beautiful cities of London, Rome and Luxembourg I was ready for my next challenge. For that, my academic journey - which mostly focused on common law- needed to be enriched with a little of civil and comparative law, and what better place than Paris-Panthéon-Assas University?

With this in mind, as I was exploring options for my courses I discovered the LLM in International Business Law a course which provided not only the opportunity to learn intellectually but also practically. I was confronted with incredible professors, professionals from renowned law firms and students which, to this day, have become a significant part of my new life in the Ville Lumière."
