

Welcome to Paris-Panthéon-Assas University

The Paris-Panthéon-Assas University campus, located in Melun, was founded in 1987 through a partnership between local authorities (Melun, then the communauté d'agglomération Melun Val-de-Seine) and Paris-Panthéon-Assas University.

So, as a student in Melun, you are a student of Paris-Panthéon-Assas University, with access to a modern campus equipped with an extensive library that is conducive to student success.

The various courses offered at Melun offer a high level of teaching, provided by the university's teaching faculty. They will provide you with a general or specialised education that will help you flourish in your professional life. The campus also has the support of a wide range of local and national partners, innovative teaching systems, a dynamic sports department offering many activities and a university restaurant.

Paris-Panthéon-Assas University is delighted to welcome you as a student!

Stéphane BRACONNIER
University President

Paris-Panthéon-Assas University is happy to welcome you to Melun, one of its main campuses, conceived especially for undergraduate students. No matter which programme you are enrolled in, Melun is the ideal setting that is conducive for success. The teaching faculty that you will meet, as well as the University's different administrative services, are dedicated to supporting you throughout this new academic year. Don't forget to take advantage of the varied activities proposed by the sports department as well as the clubs and societies that, in many ways, bring life to the Melun campus!

Undergraduate degree in law

Introduction

The Bachelor's Degree in Law provides students with the basic general knowledge of Law and to become familiar with the methodology specific to lawyers (legal dissertation, commentary on judgements, practical cases).

The structure, objectives and cross-disciplinary approach adopted by Paris-Panthéon-Assas University, makes this a Bachelor's Degree that guarantees a mastery of both basic legal principles, as well as one that fosters a multidisciplinary approach which are indispensable assets for today's modern, competent and efficient lawyers.

Objectives

The aim of this undergraduate law degree is to provide students with a basic knowledge in the legal disciplines, with an outline of specialisation at L3 level, an introduction to the working methods specific to the legal disciplines, access to basic knowledge about professional practices, the knowledge necessary either for direct entry into certain legal professions, or for the pursuit of a specialised Master's 1st year course.

Student Life

Information and social spaces

Equipped with screens, these information spaces in each centre provide you with brochures published by Paris-Panthéon-Assas University, which are intended to provide you with guidance for your day-to-day life.

From your studies to a job

The CIO (Career Guidance) and the BAIP (Employment Assistance Office) have a regular desk in the Cujas and Reine Blanche centres to help you to think of future academic and career paths, to find out about apprenticeship courses, to benefit from internship offers, to take part in CV workshops, etc.

Health, prevention and social action

The nurse, disability officer and members of the preventive health and social service team welcome you in Paris or Melun, whenever you need advice, to consult a doctor, to obtain a medical certificate or psychological follow-up. A social worker, a psychologist and a relaxation therapist are available on-site once a month.

Sports and cultural activities, clubs and societies

Sports, music, eloquence: you can express your talent in many ways. You can choose from among 20 sporting activities (such as rowing, badminton, basketball, French boxing, swimming, fencing, soccer, handball, weight training, tennis, volleyball, athletics, fitness, contemporary dance, pilates, MMA, padel, climbing, table tennis and yoga). You can also participate in the various activities organised by student clubs and societies.

Réagir Assas

Panthéon-Assas University opposes any form of attack on the dignity of individuals. If you are a victim or a witness of violence, whether physical or mental, react and report it on the alert platform: assas-universite.signalement.net
